Risk financing & collateral solutions

Retaining risk often comes with collateral obligations. Lockton guides clients through the various program structure strategies to satisfy auto liability requirements including risk retention groups, Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration qualified self-insurance, MCS-82 bond filings, and matching deductible policies.

Excess & broker liability

Today's environment is challenging — more lawsuits, larger court awards, limited insurance market capacity, and rising insurance costs. We help clients find the right balance between protecting their businesses and managing costs by exploring different ways to retain risk that fit their comfort level and financial goals.

Captive guidance

Given the rising cost of both primary and excess insurance, policyholders are often turning to group or single-parent captives as a vehicle to retain risk efficiently. Lockton can help guide clients through the feasibility of these solutions.

Risk control consulting

Protecting your assets requires specialized transportation expertise in both preloss and postloss scenarios. Lockton's loss control and claims specialists bring deep expertise in fleet safety, regulatory compliance, evaluating camera and technology vendors, and workers' compensation.
